
Annie Galloway

Oncology

Dr. Annie Galloway was born and raised in Spartanburg, South Carolina. She attended the University of South Carolina where she obtained a Bachelor of Science in Biology and played collegiate soccer. She then obtained a Doctorate of Veterinary Medicine from the University of Tennessee. Following graduation, she completed a one-year small animal medicine and surgery internship at BluePearl Veterinary Partners in Nashville, Tennessee. She was then able to make the move out to Colorado for a one-year specialty internship in medical oncology, followed by a 3-year residency in medical oncology at Colorado State University's Flint Animal Cancer Center. During her residency she also obtained a Master's of Science in Clinical Sciences.

Dr. Galloway's special interests in medical oncology include the importance of the client-doctor relationship, patient care and quality of life, and the diagnosis and treatment of lymphoma. She is thrilled to stay in Colorado after completing her residency to continue exploring the mountains and being outdoors. In her spare time, she enjoys trail running, playing soccer, hiking, rock climbing, and snuggling her 2 scruffy dogs Ollie and Telli.
